PART ONE

■ Foundations

CHAPTER 1

Doing Social Research 1

- Introduction 2
- Alternatives to Social Research 3
- How Science Works 7
- Steps in the Research Process 9
- Dimensions of Research 10
- Conclusion 21

CHAPTER 2

Theory and Social Research 23

- Introduction 24
- What Is Theory? 24
- The Parts of Theory 26
- The Aspects of Theory 29
- The Three Major Approaches to Social Science 41
- The Dynamic Duo 44
- Conclusion 45

CHAPTER 3

Ethics in Social Research 47

- Introduction 48
- Why Be Ethical? 48
- Power Relations 49
- Ethical Issues Involving Research Participants 50

Ethics and the Scientific Community 59

Ethics and the Sponsors of Research 61

Politics of Research 63

Value-Free and Objective Research 64

Conclusion 66

CHAPTER 4

Reviewing the Scholarly Literature and Planning a Study 68

- Introduction 69
- Literature Review 69
- Using the Internet for Social Research 80
- Qualitative and Quantitative Orientations toward Research 84
- Qualitative Design Issues 88
- Quantitative Design Issues 91
- Conclusion 106

CHAPTER 5

Qualitative and Quantitative Measurement 108

- Introduction 109
- Why Measure? 109
- Quantitative and Qualitative Measurement 110
- Parts of the Measurement Process 111
- Reliability and Validity 115
- A Guide to Quantitative Measurement 121

Index Construction	126
Scales	128
Conclusion	138

CHAPTER 6
Qualitative and Quantitative Sampling 140

Introduction	141
Nonprobability Sampling	141
Probability Sampling	145
Conclusion	164

PART TWO
■ Conducting Quantitative Research

CHAPTER 7
Survey Research 166

Introduction	167
The Logic of Survey Research	168
Constructing the Questionnaire	169
Types of Surveys: Advantages and Disadvantages	186
Interviewing	190
The Ethical Survey	196
Conclusion	197

CHAPTER 8
Experimental Research 200

Introduction	201
Random Assignment	202
Experimental Design Logic	204
Internal and External Validity	212
Practical Considerations	219

Results of Experimental Research: Making Comparisons	219
A Word on Ethics	221
Conclusion	222

CHAPTER 9
Nonreactive Research and Secondary Analysis 224

Introduction	225
Nonreactive Measurement	225
Content Analysis	227
Existing Statistics/Documents and Secondary Analysis	236
Issues of Inference and Theory Testing	244
Conclusion	245

CHAPTER 10
Analysis of Quantitative Data 247

Introduction	248
Dealing with Data	248
Results with One Variable	251
Results with Two Variables	257
More Than Two Variables	263
Inferential Statistics	268
Conclusion	272

PART THREE
■ Conducting Qualitative Research

CHAPTER 11
Field Research 275

Introduction	275
--------------	-----

The Logic of Field Research	278
Choosing a Site and Gaining Access	280
Relations in the Field	285
Observing and Collecting Data	287
The Field Research Interview	296
Leaving the Field	299
Focus Groups	300
Ethical Dilemmas of Field Research	301
Conclusion	302
<hr/>
CHAPTER 12
Historical-Comparative Research	304
Introduction	304
The Logic of Historical-Comparative Research	306
Steps in a Historical-Comparative Research Project	310
Data and Evidence in Historical Context	312
Comparative Research	317
Equivalence in Historical-Comparative Research	322
Ethics	325
Conclusion	325
<hr/>
CHAPTER 13
Analysis of Qualitative Data	327
Introduction	328
Comparing Methods of Data Analysis	328
Coding and Concept Formation	329
Analytic Strategies for Qualitative Data	335
Other Techniques	339
Software for Qualitative Data	340
Conclusion	342
<hr/>
PART FOUR
■ Writing a Research Report
<hr/>
CHAPTER 14
Writing the Research Report	343
Introduction	344
The Research Report	344
Conclusion	359
Glossary	361
Bibliography	377
Name Index	391
Subject Index	393
