The Evolution of British General Practice
1850–1948

ANNE DIGBY
Contents

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS, MAPS, AND FIGURES xi
LIST OF TABLES xiii
LIST OF ABBREVIATIONS xiv

1. CONSTRUCTING GENERAL PRACTICE 1
   Rationale 2
   Approach 4
   An Evolutionary Framework 8

Part I: Careers

2. PROFESSIONAL CHALLENGE 23
   Overcrowded Professions 23
   Competition 32
   Registration and Regulation 38

3. RECRUITMENT, EDUCATION, AND TRAINING 40
   Apprentices, Pupils, and Unqualified Assistants 43
   Recruitment, Numbers, and Provision 48
   An Evolving Education 53
   From Medical School to Later Practice 59

4. REINVENTING ROLES 66
   Practices 67
   Appointments 78
   Emigration and Immigration 82
   War and Peace 86

Part II: In Practice

5. THE MEDICAL MARKET 93
   Medicine as Business 93
   Sources of Income 100
   Expenditure 106
   Income and Capital 110
   Contrasting Practices 115

6. ORGANIZING A PRACTICE 126
   Assistants 127
   Partners 130
CONTENTS

A Cottage Industry 136
Accommodation 139
Technology 144

7. WOMEN PRACTITIONERS 154
Access and Training 154
Careers 162
Income 169
Medical Women 172
Public Roles 176
Public and Private Faces 181

8. MEDICAL INVESTIGATION AND TREATMENT 187
Diagnosis and Prognosis 188
Treatment 193
Obstetrics 200
Variety in Practice 208
Investigation and Research 215

9. PATIENTS 224
Choice 224
Encounters 232
Cost 241
Gatekeeping 247

Part III: A Wider World

10. PUBLIC DUTIES AND PRIVATE LIVES 259
Community Niches 261
Public/Private Lives 275
Sickness, Retirement, Death 279

11. GENERALISTS, SPECIALISTS, AND OTHERS 287
Generalists and Specialists 289
GPs and Consultants 294
Towards the Professional Margin 298

12. NATIONAL HEALTH INSURANCE 306
The Transition to NHI 307
Panel Doctors and Patients 311
Standards 318

13. THE NATIONAL HEALTH SERVICE 325
Professional Involvement in Change 326
The NHS and its Reception 332

SELECT BIBLIOGRAPHY 343
INDEX OF MEDICAL NAMES 365
GENERAL INDEX 369