Content

Foreword

PART 1 Adolf Bastian and the Constitution of a Science
Adolf Bastian and Bremen. Hanseatic Youth, 1826 to 1845
Jutta Bellers

Bastian and Lévi-Strauss: From ‘Entelechy’ to ‘Entropy’ as “Scientific” Metaphors for Cultural Teleologies
Klaus Peter Köpping

Bastian and the Future of an Ethnological View of the World
Marie-France Chevron

The World as Negro and déjà vu
Klaus Peter Buchheit

„Diese unendlichen, sogenannten ethnologischen Bandwürmer Don Bombastians“: An Appreciation of Bastian’s Writing in Light of the History of Science in Imperial Germany
Andrew Zimmerman

Transnational History in Historical Perspective: Bastian’s Museum Project
H. Glenn Penny

The Scientific Legacy of Adolf Bastian (1826–1905). Compilation, Evaluation and Significance of Knowledge about the Life and Work of the Scholar
Annemarie Fiedermutz-Laun

PART 2 The Scientific Community in 19th Century Berlin

The History of Ethnology in Berlin. Berlin Liberalism from Virchow to the Present
Georg Pfeffer

Adolf Bastian and Rudolf Virchow in the Berlin Society of Anthropology, Ethnology and Prehistory. Changes in Chairmen and Scientific Discourse
Annette Leverenz

Natural Peoples as “Objects of Natural History” for the Collectors of the Zoological Museum in Berlin
Hannelore Landsberg
From Elementary Thought to Tone Psychology. Bastian and Stumpf's Discourse on the Mind as a Condition for the Development of Ethnomusicology

Lars-Christian Koch and Maurice M. Mengel

PART 3 The Generation after Bastian

Adolf Bastian and the Sequel: Five Companions and Successors as Collectors for Berlin's Royal Museum of Ethnology
Viola König

Philological Embedments - Ethnological Research in South America in the Ambience of Adolf Bastian
Michael Kraus

The Time after Adolf Bastian: Felix von Luschan and Berlin's Royal Museum of Ethnology
Anja Laukötter

"I Consider it My Duty to Make Our Museum the Largest and Most Beautiful in the World."
Angelika Tunis

PART 4 The Ethnological Museum as an Archive of Humanity

From Ethnographic Curiosities to the Royal Museum of Ethnology. Early Ethnological Collections in Berlin
Peter Bolz

Adolf Bastian's Travels in the Americas (1875–1876)
Manuela Fischer

Bastian's Travels in Australia and Their Significance for Research on Australia in Berlin's Museum of Ethnology
Markus Schindlbeck

Adolf Bastian and His Relationship with Southeast Asia
Hans Berg

Indonesia Contra Insulinde – Islands Behind India
Nicole Manon Lehmann

"...to observe fresh life and save ethnic imprints of it." Bastian and Collecting Activities in Africa During the 19th and Early 20th Centuries
Paola Ivanov

Adolf Bastian: Ethnologist, Adventurer or Tourist?
Laura Iglesias San Martín
PART 5 Perspectives of Museums Collections

The Future of Ethnological Museums
Christian F. Feest

259

The Ethnographer as Artist: The Presentation of Art and Ethnography in Museums
Susan Kamel

267

The Australian Aboriginal Collection in the Ethnological Museum Berlin
Janice Lally

276

Yup'ik Eskimo Elders at the Ethnological Museum Berlin: Towards Cooperation with Native Communities in Exploring Historic Collections
Hans-Ulrich Sanner

285

Adolf Bastian: Life and Work

Chronology

297

Bibliography

301

Contributors

323

Index

327