FEELINGS AND EMOTIONS
THE WITTEMBERG SYMPOSIUM

by

ALFRED ADLER  CARL JÖRGENSEN
F. AVELING  DAVID KATZ
VLADIMIR M. BEKHTEREV  F. KIESOW
MADISON BENTLEY  F. KRUÉGER
G. S. BRETT  HERBERT S. LANGFELD
KARL BÜHLER  WILLIAM MCDougALL
WALTER B. CANNON  HENRI PIÉRON
HARVEY A. CARR  W. B. PILLSBURY
ED. CLAPARÈDE  MORTON PRINCE
KNIGHT DUNLAP  CARL E. SEASHORE
ROBERT H. GAULT  CHARLES E. SPEARMAN
D. WERNER GRUEHN  WILHELM STERN
L. B. HOISINGTON  GEORGE M. STRATTON
D. T. HOWARD  JOHN S. TERRY
ERICH JAEHNSCH  MARGARET F. WASHBURN
PIERRE JANET  ALBERT P. WEISS
JOSEPH JASTROW  ROBERT S. WOODWORTH

Edited by

MARTIN L. REYMERT

WORCESTER, MASSACHUSETTS
CLARK UNIVERSITY PRESS
1928
TABLE OF CONTENTS

Preface vii
List of Illustrations 1

PART I. GENERAL PROBLEMS IN THE PSYCHOLOGY OF FEELING AND EMOTION

1. Is “Emotion” More Than a Chapter Heading? 17
   MADISON BENTLEY, Cornell University

2. The Place of Emotion in Modern Psychology 24
   JOSEPH JASTROW, University of Wisconsin

3. A New Method for Investigating the Springs of Action 39
   CHARLES E. SPEARMAN, University of London

4. Emotion, Conation, and Will 49
   F. AVELING, University of London

5. The Essence of Feeling: Outline of a Systematic Theory 58
   F. KRUEGER, University of Leipzig

6. The Feeling-Tone of Sensation 89
   F. KIESOW, Royal University of Turin

7. Emotion and Thought: A Motor Theory of Their Relations 104
   MARGARET F. WASHBURN, Vassar College

8. The Utility of Emotions 116
   W. B. PILLSBURY, University of Michigan

9. Feelings and Emotions 124
   ED. CLAPAREDE, University of Geneva

10. A Functional Theory of the Emotions 140
    D. T. HOWARD, Northwestern University

11. Emotion as a Dynamic Background 150
    KNIGHT DUNLAP, The Johns Hopkins University

12. Can Emotion Be Regarded as Energy? 161
    MORTON PRINCE, Harvard University

13. Feeling and Emotion as Forms of Behavior 170
    ALBERT P. WEISS, Ohio State University
PART II. SPECIAL PROBLEMS IN THE PSYCHOLOGY OF FEELING AND EMOTION

14. Displeasure and Pleasure in Relation to Activity
   KARL BÜHLER, University of Vienna

15. Emotion and Feeling Distinguished
    WILLIAM MCDougall, Duke University

16. Phonophotography as a New Approach to the Psychology of Emotion
    CARL E. SEASHORE, State University of Iowa

17. Excitement as an Undifferentiated Emotion
    GEORGE M. STRATTON, University of California

18. How Emotions are Identified and Classified
    ROBERT S. WOODWARD, Columbia University

19. The Differentia of an Emotion
    HARVEY A. CARR, University of Chicago

20. Pleasantness and Unpleasantness as Modes of Bodily Experience
    L. B. HOISINGTON, Cornell University

21. Pleasurable Reactions to Tactual Stimuli
    ROBERT H. GAULT, Northwestern University

PART III. PHYSIOLOGY OF FEELING AND EMOTION

22. Neural Organization for Emotional Expression
    WALTER B. CANNON, Harvard University Medical School

23. Emotions as Somato-mimetic Reflexes
    VLADIMIR M. BESHTEREV, University of Leningrad

24. Emotion in Animals and Man
    HENRI PIÉRON, University of Paris

PART IV. PATHOLOGY AND PSYCHOANALYSIS OF FEELING AND EMOTION

25. Fear of Action as an Essential Element in the Sentiment of Melancholia
    PIERRE JANET, University of Paris
PART V. FEELING AND EMOTION IN CHILDREN

28. “Ernstspiel” and the Affective Life: A Contribution to the Psychology of Personality
   WILHELM STERN, University of Hamburg

29. The Development of Conscience in the Child as Revealed by His Talks with Adults
   DAVID KATZ, University of Rostock

PART VI. FEELING AND EMOTION IN RELATION TO AESTHETICS AND RELIGION

30. The Rôle of Feeling and Emotion in Aesthetics
    HERBERT S. LANGFELD, Princeton University

31. Psychological and Psychophysical Investigations of Types in Their Relation to the Psychology of Religion
    ERICH JAENSCH, University of Marburg

32. Feelings and Emotions in the Psychology of Religion
    D. WERNER GRUEHN, University of Berlin

PART VII. HISTORY OF THE PSYCHOLOGY OF FEELINGS AND EMOTIONS

33. Historical Development of the Theory of Emotions
    G. S. BRETT, University of Toronto

PART VIII. EMOTION IN RELATION TO EDUCATION

34. Training the Emotions
    JOHN S. TERRY, New York City