Higher education governance between democratic culture, academic aspirations and market forces

Jürgen Kohler and Josef Huber (eds.)
Sjur Bergan, Series editor

Council of Europe Publishing
Table of contents

Preface

A word from the series editor
Sjur Bergan  .......................................................... 5

A word from the editors
Jürgen Kohler,  Josef Huber .............................. 11

Setting the scene  .......................................................... 15

Higher education governance - Background, significance and purpose
Jürgen Kohler  .......................................................... 17

(In the) Context of change  .................................................. 33

Reconsidering higher education governance
Pavel Zgaga  .......................................................... 35

The objectives of and expectations towards higher education in the changed societal context - An overview
Virgilio Meira Soares  .................................................. 51

European university governance in urgent need of change
Luc Weber  .......................................................... 63

Concepts  .......................................................... 77

Higher education governance in Europe; autonomy, ownership and accountability - A review of the litterature
Jochen Fried  .......................................................... 79

The governance of higher education institutions
Dijana Tiplic  .......................................................... 135

The actors in higher education governance
Robin Farquhar  .......................................................... 145

What does it really mean? - The language of governance
Josef Huber  .......................................................... 153
Case studies .................................................................................. 161

Educational reforms in Georgia - A case study
Aleksander Lomaia ........................................................................ 163

The governance of higher education systems - Lessons from Estonia
Jaak Aaviksoo ............................................................................ 175

Universities in Serbia
Radmila Marinković-Nedučin .......................................................... 183

The actors in higher education governance - The case of Uludag University
Erdal Emel ................................................................................... 191

Conclusions and outlook ................................................................. 201

General report
Martina Vukasovic ....................................................................... 203

Considerations and recommendations ................................. 213

List of contributors ....................................................................... 217